Purpose and Summary

H.R. 739, “For the relief of Median El-Moustrah,” would provide the beneficiary of this private bill, Mr. El-Moustrah, with an opportunity to obtain lawful permanent resident status in the United States.

Background and Need for the Legislation

A. IMMIGRATION BACKGROUND

Median El-Moustrah was born in Lebanon and has lived in the United States for nearly 30 years. In 1993, he was granted conditional permanent residence based on his marriage to Ms. Patricia Stack, a U.S. citizen. Shortly after obtaining such status, the couple began having marital problems, separated, and divorced. Mr. El-Moustrah's petition to remove the conditions on his permanent residence was denied and he was placed in removal proceedings. He was ordered removed in 2011, after an immigration judge determined that he failed to overcome the statutory presumption that his marriage was not bona fide. On June 4, 2007, Mr. El-Moustrah married his current spouse, Ayda Mehri, a U.S. citizen, and became stepfather to her three U.S. citizen children, who are now grown. Mr. El-Moustrah is part-owner of a gas station, which serves as the primary source of income for his household.

On April 26, 2018, Mr. El-Moustrah was scheduled for removal by Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE), but removal was suspended at the direction of the ICE Field Medical Coordinator. In November 2019, Mr. El-Moustrah was detained by ICE, but was released in March 2020 due to his elevated risk of serious complications resulting from exposure to COVID-19. Since January 2013, Mr. El-Moustrah has been granted successive stays of removal, most recently on August 11, 2020, for a period of six months. He is currently enrolled in a monthly telephonic check-in program with the ICE Field Office in Detroit.

B. MEDICAL CONDITIONS

Mr. El-Moustrah suffers from chronic liver disease (decompensated cirrhosis) due to Hepatitis B, as well numerous other conditions, including esophageal tears, hypertension, hyperglycemia, and Type 2 diabetes. He requires regular testing, monitoring, and treatment for complications from these conditions and will eventually require a liver transplant. He also suffers from significant deafness in his left ear and has a cochlear implant in his right ear to restore lost hearing. Mr. El-Moustrah has private medical insurance in the United States that allows him to afford his various medical treatments. Medical experts confirm that Mr. El-Moustrah should not fly or depart the United States due to his conditions. The Chief of Gastroenterology at the Lebanese American University confirms that a liver transplant is not available in Lebanon, and that Mr. El-Moustrah's life would be in jeopardy if he is removed to Lebanon.

C. HOUSE PRECEDENT FOR CONSIDERATION OF PRIVATE IMMIGRATION BILLS

In the modern era, Congress has passed numerous private bills for similarly situated individuals, including in cases where the beneficiary, or the U.S. citizen spouse or child of a beneficiary, suffered from a serious illness and could not receive proper treatment in the beneficiary's home country.

For example, in the 106th Congress, the House passed a private bill for Marina Khalina and her son Albert Miftakhov, the latter of whom had cerebral palsy and would require lifelong medical treatment that was unavailable in their home country of Russia.<sup>1</sup> Also in the 106th Congress, the House passed a private bill for the relief of Jacqueline Salinas—who was paralyzed from the waist down—and her children, one of whom was afflicted with bone cancer.<sup>2</sup>

In the 104th Congress, the House passed a private bill for Oscar Salas-Velazquez, whose U.S. citizen child and wife were carriers of an antigen that predisposes them to developing Reiter's syndrome—a severe, disabling, incurable arthritic disease which can be triggered by an intestinal infection from organisms widespread in Mexico.<sup>3</sup> Requiring Mr. Salas-Velazquez's wife and child to join him in Mexico would very likely result in the development of Reiter's syndrome.<sup>4</sup> In the 106th Congress, the House also passed a private bill for Saeed Rezai, whose U.S. citizen wife was stricken with multiple sclerosis.<sup>5</sup> Medical professionals indicated that her condition would likely deteriorate rapidly from the severe stress resulting from her husband's removal.

Similarly, Mr. El-Moustrah and his U.S. citizen wife would suffer extreme hardship if he were forced to return to his home country of Lebanon, where he will not have access to the level of care he receives in the United States to treat his various conditions. Further, without a liver transplant—which he ultimately requires, and which is unavailable in Lebanon—Mr. El-Moustrah's conditions will worsen leading to his death. As such, the Committee has determined that H.R. 739 meets the medical condition precedent.

On September 29, 2021, the House Committee on the Judiciary ordered reported five bills that would allow the people named in each bill to become lawful permanent residents:

- H.R. 187, For the relief of Victoria Galindo Lopez;
- H.R. 680, For the relief of Arpita Kurdekar, Girish Kurdekar, and Vandana Kurdekar;
- H.R. 681, For the relief of Rebecca Trimble;
- H.R. 739, For the relief of Median El-Moustrah; and
- H.R. 785, For the relief of Maria Isabel Bueso Barrera, Alberto Bueso Mendoza, and Karla Maria Barrera De Bueso.

Enacting each of those five bills could increase direct spending and reduce revenues because lawful permanent residents are eligible for certain federal benefits, such as Medicaid and premium tax credits for health insurance purchased through the marketplaces established by the Affordable Care Act, if they otherwise meet the eligibility requirements for those benefits. CBO estimates that those effects would not be significant because of the small number of people who would be affected by each bill.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is David Rafferty. The estimate was reviewed by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Director of Budget Analysis.

Duplication of Federal Programs

Pursuant to clause 3(c)(5) of House rule XIII, no provision of H.R. 739 establishes or reauthorizes a program of the federal government known to be duplicative of another federal program.

Performance Goals and Objectives

The Committee states that pursuant to clause 3(c)(4) of House rule XIII, H.R. 739 would provide Median El-Moustrah with an opportunity to obtain lawful permanent resident status in the United States.

Advisory on Earmarks

In accordance with clause 9 of House rule XXI, H.R. 739 does not contain any congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined in clause 9(d), 9(e), or 9(f) of House Rule XXI.
